Allowable Subject Matter

1. Applicant's remarks filed 1/27/06 are persuasive, therefore, claims 1-9 and 21-25 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art of record fails to teach or suggest singularly or an obvious combination of an apparatus and method comprising the steps of providing an exercise chair with a seat, pivot linkage connected to the seat, front leg support connected to the linkage to determine a knee joint axis, a rear back support connected to the linkage to define a chair hip joint axis, a seat back, fulcrum pivot spaced above the hip joint axis and connect to the seat back and linkage and the steps comprising a user occupying the chair in an upright position, positioning the knee joints of a user in alignment with the chair knee joint axis, positioning the hip joints of a user with the chair hip joint axis and exerting a rearward force on the back to rotate the front leg support about the knee joint axis from a rest position to a raised position and where the back about the fulcrum pivot from the upright position to a backward inclined position and relaxing the rearward force to enable the front support to return to a rest position as recited in claims 1, 9, 21; further including the step of alternating the exerting and relaxing rearward force on the back to rotate the front leg supports about the knee joint axis between the rest and raised position and rotating the back about the fulcrum pivot between the upright position and backward inclined position as recited in claim 5; and further including a pair of laterally spaced, stationary upstanding rigid rear supports, a pair of laterally spaced upstanding front supports pivotal about a transverse axis at a lower end and a pair of laterally spaced horizontal supporting arms having a seat, where a first pivot connects a forward end of each arm to the upper end of the front pivotal support, a seat back is connected to the rearward end of the arms by a second pivot and a third pivot is connecting the upper end of each of the rear supports and the seat back, and where the third pivot is located at a position spaced above the second pivot, and the third pivot is adjustable in relation to the back and rear supports to adjust the distance between the second and third pivots to vary the force to move the seat and back between upright and reclined positions when exerting a rearward force on the seat as recited in claims 23-24.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
